

CLUB LOG

WHAT IS IT AND WHAT CAN IT DO FOR ME?

Club Log is an online database with a suite of powerful tools supporting active DX'ers that will help you analyze your log and compare your log to others. Using Club Log is free but, they will gladly accept donations. It is not a requirement to belong to Club Log to be a member of the Florida Contest Group (FCG).

It's important to note, Club Log is NOT intended to be a contesting tool.

Once you registered on Club Log and uploaded your log, you will be able to:

- Generate personal reports, showing which DXCC entities you worked and/or confirmed, when you first worked them, which ones you still need, and which are the most likely to QSL (Club Log reports are both comprehensive and flexible).
- See how you stand relative to your peers in various league table and challenges (again, the reports are very flexible – for example with a few clicks you can generate a specific league table listing how many DXCC entities or CQ zones have been worked by various African hams on 20m CW in the past year almost as easily as a global league table covering all bands, all modes and all years since 1975).
- Analyze your log for possible/likely errors in the DXCC allocations (Club Log's painstakingly-researched DXCC database is a tremendously useful resource supporting the DX community).
- Predict the bands and times on which you are most likely to work almost any DX station, based on actual QSOs in the logs uploaded to Club Log, and draw great circle maps.
- Set up a personal DX Cluster feed that filters out the DXCCs you have already worked, leaving just the ones you still need.

One feature in Club Log is called “League Tables”. The League Tables are nothing more than 7 different Leader Boards. They are:

1. DXCC Leagues
2. Satellite Leagues
3. Zone Leagues
4. Club Leagues
5. CDXC Challenges
6. Super Leagues
7. Unique Leagues

When more FCG members upload their logs to Club Log, FCG may rise in the League Table rank, so help FCG by uploading your contest and daily operating logs.

CLUB LOG

WHAT IS IT AND WHAT CAN IT DO FOR ME?

Other features/benefits of using Club Log are:

1. Log backup and recovery should you lose your hard drive.
2. OQRS.
3. Download your log from LoTW.
4. Analyze your activity to produce a bar graph by year.

For Club Log to include your totals in some of the League Tables you must first declare what club you are associated with AND be approved by that amateur radio club. The Florida Contest Group's administer for Club Log is Randy Hatt, AA8R. (aa8r@aol.com). As FCG's administer for Club Log, Randy is the go-to person for approving active FCG members to be included in the Club Log's FCG League Table.

By design, Cub Log's League Tables only list callsigns that are active, meaning a user must have uploaded at least one QSO within a 12-month period.

There are several ways to get your QSO's into Club Log.

1. You can upload a QSO to Club Log one at time.
2. You can upload a log adi file to Club Log.
3. You can download an adi file out of LoTW.

To be include in FCG's League table you must be an active member of the Florida Contest Group. (You will be considered "inactive" member if your FCG dues are in arrears.) Life members, teenagers, or out-of-state members are always considered to be "active" members of the FCG.

How to register as a Club Log member

To get started, go to WWW.CLUBLOG.ORG

Then, on the following screen, click the “Register new account” button.

NOTE: New users do not enter a callsign and password until the next step).

Login To Club Log

Welcome to Club Log, a free web-based tool for producing DXCC league tables, expedition tools, log search services and most-wanted lists for ham radio. Please login using the form below. You will need to enable cookies in your browser to use Club Log.

Login Form
Email or callsign:	<input type="text"/>
Password:	<input type="password"/>
	<input type="button" value="Login"/> Register new account

If you have registered a Club Log account but cannot remember your password, please click here to reset your password.

On this next screen, fill in your information and click the “Sign Up Now” button.

Sign Up Now

Registering is a simple process. Your account is based on your email address, so you'll need to validate that you are who you say you are, by inputting a code that is emailed to you when you submit this form. Once that's done, you can carry on and add your call sign(s) and upload your logs.

Do you already have an account?

You don't need to sign up again to add more callsigns. You can add more callsigns to your existing account from the Settings page.

If you have lost your password, you can request a reset.

If you have changed your email address, go to the Settings page to update Club Log or ask the helpdesk if you are locked out. Don't register another account!

WHAT IS IT AND WHAT CAN IT DO FOR ME?

Downloading new QSLs from LoTW

If you have been using LoTW for a while (which is fairly likely due to its widespread adoption) then you will want to import your LoTW QSLs (matches) to Club Log from time to time. Club Log ensures this activity is efficient by knowing the last date that you imported your QSLs, and only looking for new QSLs since that date. You can override this behavior if you have a good reason to do so (but this should not normally be necessary).

Here's an example of downloading your new QSLs. Simply choose the callsign you want to update, and enter your LoTW web site login details. These are not stored by Club Log, but you may find that password management features in your web browser will helpfully store or auto-complete your password to save you time (this is not a Club Log feature but a facility offered by your web browser).

Download LoTW Matches

Callsign:	G7VJR ▾
Last download for G7VJR from LoTW was 2017-01-23 11:33:42
Your ARRL LoTW username:	<input style="width: 100%;" type="text" value="g7vjr"/>
Your ARRL LoTW password:	<input style="width: 100%;" type="password" value="....."/>
Download latest matches	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> If unchecked, all matches will be refreshed. This is much slower.

When you click the: "Sync LoTW with Club Log" button (not depicted above) your latest QSLs will be downloaded and sent to the Club Log upload queue for processing. A few minutes later your latest QSLs will appear in Club Log. Where a QSO has been awarded as part of a DXCC application in the past, you'll also see it appears as a blue 'V' in your DXCC charts:

How to declare what clubs to belong to

To access this screen within Club Log, go to WWW.CLUBLOG.ORG and log in.

Then, click the “Settings” tab at the top of the screen, which will display the Main Account Settings screen.

On the Main Account Settings screen, click the “Clubs” button, which should bring you to the screen shown below.

Select FCG (Florida Contest Group), or whichever club you want to link to, from the dropdown list, and click “Join Club” button.

The screenshot shows the Club Log website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Settings, Upload, OQRS, Donate, Expeditions, and Help. Below this is a secondary navigation bar with buttons for Settings, Callsigns, Locators, Clubs, Cass Award, Auto. Passwords, Access Log, and Live Stream. The 'Clubs' button is highlighted with a red arrow. The main content area is titled 'Your Current Clubs' and contains the text 'You are not a member of any clubs.' Below this is a section titled 'Join More Clubs' which contains a dropdown list of clubs. The 'FCG - Florida Contest Group [*]' is selected in the list, indicated by a red arrow. Below the list are 'Join Club' and 'Reset' buttons. A red arrow also points to the 'Tools' section in the left sidebar. At the bottom of the list, there is a note: 'Clubs marked [*] will require manual approval before you can join.'

After you select FCG as your club, the FCG’s Club Log administrator will get an email to either “Approve” or “Decline” the new request. Once the FCG administrator approves the request Club Log will update their database that night and you should see your call included in the Club Log Leagues tables. If you don’t see your call included in FCG Leagues tables go to Trouble Shooting to make sure you have configured your account correctly.

Why doesn't my callsign appear in the leagues and log search tools?

Modified on: Sun, 18 Jul, 2021 at 11:34 AM

By design, Club Log's league tables only list callsigns that:

- Are active i.e. they have made, logged and uploaded at least one QSO within the past 12 months;
- Have not been marked as "hidden" by their owners (see below);
- Meet the report selection criteria (e.g. if you select a CW-only report, calls that have not logged any CW QSOs will obviously not be listed);
- Do not have an unusually low matching rate (less than 15% of QSOs matching).

To find out why one or more of your callsigns is not appearing, check your settings:

The screenshot shows the Club Log website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, About, Settings<sup>1</sup>, Upload, Donate, Expeditions, and Help. Below this is a secondary navigation bar with buttons for Settings, Expeditions, OQRS, Callsigns<sup>2</sup>, Linking, Locators, Clubs, and Cass Award. A sidebar on the left contains a list of menu items: Your Log, DXCC Charts, Timelines, QSL Charts, Zone Charts, Log Inspector, Log Matching, League Tables, DXCC Leagues, Zone Leagues, Club Leagues, CDXC Challenges, Super League, Uniques League, and Club Log tools. The main content area displays a table titled "Callsigns owned by gary@isect.com". The table has columns for Callsign, QSOs, Delete Call, Clear QSOs, Show in leagues?<sup>3</sup>, Primary Callsign, and Download ADIF. The rows are for callsigns ZL2IFB, ZL7T, and ZM4G. The "Show in leagues?" column for ZL2IFB has radio buttons for "Yes" (selected) and "No". For ZL7T, it says "No - inactive". For ZM4G, it says "No - linked". Below the table is an "Add Callsign:" form with an input field and an "Add Callsign" button, with a note "Only add your own callsigns".

Callsign	QSOs	Delete Call	Clear QSOs	Show in leagues? <sup>3</sup>	Primary Callsign	Download ADIF
ZL2IFB	40,849	Delete	Clear	Yes <input checked="" type="radio"/> No <input type="radio"/>	Primary call	Download
ZL7T	10,592	-	Clear	No - inactive	Set Primary	Download
ZM4G	12,682	Delete	Clear	No - linked	Set Primary	Download

CLUB LOG

WHAT IS IT AND WHAT CAN IT DO FOR ME?

1. Log in to Club Log and click the Settings menu option at the top of most screens.
2. Click the Callsigns button.
3. Check the Show in leagues? column.

Note: a callsign is automatically set to "No - inactive" if no QSOs have been logged and uploaded during the past 12 months. The 12 month filter is built into Club Log and cannot be disabled in order to avoid the league tables becoming cluttered with inactive callsigns. Club Log and the leagues are intended for active amateurs.

Note: Lots of people misunderstand how this works. You must have logged a QSO dated in the last 12 months before you can change the "show in league" option to 'yes'. Also, you have to make this change yourself - it's not automatic!

So, if you want your call or calls to appear in the leagues:

- Do not declare you call or calls "hidden";
- Log at least one new QSO per year under each call;
- Upload your logs containing QSOs made within the past year; and
- Choose the relevant reporting options in the league tables
